OLDEST DATE — The late E. G. Cassidy, artist on a 1933 expedition at the Mexican village of Tres Zapatos in Veracruz, notes the missing link in a Olmec stone

President Starts Trip To China

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, his wife and a handful of top aides left today on a "journey for peace" to Communist China, saying he hopes it will reduce the possibility of a future war.

The presidential jet, the "Spirit of '76," took off from Andrews Air Force Base on the first long leg of the trip at 10:30 a.m.

School children, Cabinet secretaries and members of Congress were enlisted to wish him a fruitful journey. Two television mobile units entered the White House grounds about 24 hours in advance to prepare for live coverage of the President's departure at 10 a.m. EST. Some 1,000 area school children were recruited by their teachers to show up for the first step in the first journey by any American president to China.

Some teachers confused the occasion with the traditional White House welcome for visiting heads of state and instructed students to place their hands over their hearts during playing of the Star Spangled Banner and the Chinese anthem.

The White House said this was all a mistake, that there would be no band.

The Nixons are due in China Feb. 21 and will leave there Feb. 28—the longest time any chief executive has devoted to a single country since Woodrow Wilson went to Europe at the end of World War I.

Prior to his departure, Nixon summoned to the White House the Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress and ranking members of such potent committees as Foreign Affairs, Armed Services and Appropriations.

By closing himself with the legislators until the virtual moment of departure from the executive mansion, Nixon insured himself of a bipartisan farewell.

From the White House, the President and his wife were bound for nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., and a 10-hour nonstop flight to Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station in Hawaii.

The Nixons plan to remain there until Saturday afternoon when they will fly to Guam for an overnight stop before landing on the Chinese mainland.

Irish Violence Stepped Up; 2 More Die

BELFAST (AP) — Terrorists in Northern Ireland executed a part-time militiaman and killed another British soldier Wednesday night, raising the province's death toll in 2½ years of religious-political violence to at least 245.

Thomas Callaghan, a Catholic member of the mostly Protestant Ulster Defense Regiment, was dragged from the bus he was driving in Londonderry's Creggan District as his passengers screamed. The gunmen bundled him into a car, shot him through the head and dumped his body at the edge of a road on the other side of the city.

The soldier died in Belfast when terrorists riddled a jeep with machine-gun fire. He was the 51st British soldier killed in Northern Ireland.

In two other incidents in the capital, a sniper shot and wounded a British paratrooper on his first day of duty in the province, and terrorists blew up a tire depot on the city's north side. The gunmen allowed the workers to leave the depot before planting the bomb, and there were no casualties.

Earlier Wednesday, a bomb was found aboard the ferry Duke of Argyll as it was bringing 300 British soldiers and an equal number of civilians to Belfast from England. The 40-pound suitcase bomb, powerful enough to destroy a five-story building, was found half an hour before the ferry arrived and was defused at the dock.

Security authorities ordered an intensive review of safety precautions at airports and harbors.

Red Missiles Inaccurate?

Multiple Warhead Tests Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Department officials say the Soviet triple-head SS9 missile is still not accurate enough to threaten U.S. Minuteman missiles.

But these officials predict the Russians eventually will come up with a more advanced multiple warhead.

Arguing for the Safeguard antimissile defense system, Pentagon leaders started, cautioning three years ago that the Soviet Union could be in position by 1975 to destroy 95 per cent of this country's land-based missiles with a surprise attack. This warning was predicated on the belief that the Russians would develop effective mechanisms for ejecting triple, five-megaton warheads from SS9 missiles in a "footprint" that would assure destruction of Minuteman complexes.

But, after studying data from a long series of SS9 tests, U.S. experts have concluded the Russians were unable to achieve the required pattern.

Final judgments are not yet in because, as Adm. Thomas H. Moorer told Congress Wednesday, this model of the SS9 "is still an enigma."

The model referred to by Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is less sophisticated than the separately aimed multiple warheads mounted on advanced U.S. missiles. These sophisticated warheads are called MIRVs.

"While the MIRV capabilities of the current SS9... system have not yet been demonstrated," Moorer said, "the intelligence specialists are in agreement that the Soviets will eventually develop MIRVs."

Moorer said "our greatest uncertainty at this time" is the ultimate objective of more than 90 missile silos built by the Russians in recent years.

Utilities Commission Sets Natural Gas Restrictions

Blackout In Britain Intensifies

LONDON (AP) — Striking coal miners blocked oil supplies from two of Britain's biggest refineries today in a bid to intensify power blackouts curtailing industry, darkening homes and idling millions of workers.

To block supplies to oil-fed electricity generating plants, the miners threw up picket lines at the refineries on the Thames and Tees rivers, and railroad workers refused to cross them to transport the oil. Virtually no oil left the refineries.

Most of Britain's power plants run on coal, and their supplies are expected to be gone by the end of the month. But Prime Minister Edward Heath's government is relying on oil-fueled stations to maintain at least 25 per cent of normal electricity output when the coal runs out.

With the nation's factories cut to half time because of the blackouts, three government mediators worked overtime in the hope of ending the strike that threatens to bring British industry to a halt in two weeks. The three-man court of inquiry headed by Lord Wilberforce was expected to announce its recommendations Friday for settling the six-week-old walk-out by 280,000 miners demanding higher pay.

Acceptance by the miners could end the strike by early next week. But Cabinet ministers were drawing up contingency plans for dealing with the national emergency if the miners reject the proposals. There was talk of police action against miners stopping coal from entering the power stations and the use of troops to move coal stockpiled at the pitheads.

A group of 45 left-wing Laborites in Parliament warned that a general strike would "inevitably follow" any decision to call in the army.

In the worst blackouts since the World War II Blitz, millions of homes are without heat and light for three to 12 hours a day.

Electric train services have been drastically reduced in many parts of the country. Postal deliveries are cut as sorting offices try to cope without light. Milk and sugar are scarce. Breweries hint at beer rationing.

Mental patients in a Surrey County hospital became hysterical and set fire to their beds after their wards were plunged into darkness.

Legalization Of Marijuana For Private Use Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national commission may recommend legalizing the private use of marijuana in an effort to strip away the myths which tempt some people to try it and fill others with fear of it.

Sources close to the 13-member panel say the recommendations will stop short of endorsing total legalization.

The thrust of the report "is to defuse the marijuana issue, to strike away the emotional mythology about the drug," the sources said.

Commission officials have declined comment until March 22 when the report will be presented to President Nixon and Congress.

The conservative-dominated commission, headed by former Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania and including nine persons picked by Nixon, "takes a dramatic step to decriminalize private use of marijuana in the home—while discouraging use by keeping other things criminal," such as public use, sources say.

The panel also concluded, the sources add, that "while excessive use may be harmful, no clear evidence was found that moderate use had detrimental effects on the user." There was no real evidence that marijuana-users are being spurred by the drug to commit major crime or to go on to hard narcotics, they say.

These findings stem from some 50 reports and from testimony at a series of hearings and private meetings from which it was decided marijuana "is not a seriously damaging drug," the sources said. Long-term impact has not been determined, they said.

It was also learned that the commission is expected to recommend decreasing penalties for possessing marijuana, and that the panel would call for retaining criminal penalties for driving under the influence of the drug.

However, disputes developed over such issues as whether criminal penalties should be continued for those who give marijuana to friends.

"The commission said that, except for that found in a home, marijuana could be confiscated—and that the drug could be controlled except in homes.

"Less than one ounce in public would not be illegal but it could be controlled and would be contraband, and more than one ounce would be illegal. Sale of marijuana would be illegal. They want a mechanism to get at the guy who pushes it, but they disagree on what to do with casual" exchanges, the sources said.

The recommendations will go to Congress for consideration in acting on proposed changes in federal drug laws, and as suggestions for similar revisions in state legislatures.

An earlier commission study showed that 24.6 million Americans have tried marijuana, with 8.3 million current users.

Little Girl, 10, Struggles Against Mercury Poisoning

ALAMAGORDO, N. M. (AP) —Ernestine Huckleby, one of three children stricken by mercury poisoning more than two years ago after they ate pork from a home-butchered hog, has left the hospital.

The 10-year-old can't feed herself, can't talk, and can't see. Her mother, Mrs. Ernest Huckleby, said Wednesday night, "I'm just so tickled about having her home again. I'd like to tell everyone about my blessings and thank God."

The youngster had been home from a local hospital for day visits, her mother said, "but when we took her back to the hospital at night she cried every time because she was lonely."

Since Monday, she has been home full time. "All she can do yet is to smile when we tell her a joke. The people at the hospital wanted us to have her sent to a different hospital rather than let us bring her home," her mother said. "I prayed to the Lord to bless me by letting Ernestine come home and he answered my prayers."

Doctors traced the mercury poisoning that afflicted Ernestine and two older Huckleby children to seed grain that had been treated with a mercury compound and then fed to the butchered hog.

The older children—Jean, now 22, and Amos, now 15—have been home for some time after spending several months in a rehabilitation center at Roswell.

All three children suffered severe brain damage, doctors said. Like Ernestine, Amos is blind, but Dorothy Jean has regained much of her sight.

Dorothy Jean now gets around by herself with the help of crutches and is going to night school to finish junior high.

"She called out to me and was all excited about how she was getting along," Mrs. Huckleby said, recalling a day in December when Dorothy Jean tried walking in a hall without crutches.

"Dorothy was bouncing from wall to wall, but she was able to go a short distance by herself," Mrs. Huckleby said. "She can wash clothes and is a lot of help to me these days."

"Amos can give himself a bath now, and he can move anywhere on the couch by himself without having to have help," his mother said. "Amos is doing well."

Senate OKs Strict Curbs On Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has unanimously voted that the President be required to tell Congress of every international agreement he makes, sensitive or not.

The Nixon administration opposes the bill.

The Wednesday vote of 81 to 0 was another step for senators interested in reasserting the congressional role in foreign policy.

The Senate has under consideration another bill carefully spelling out the president's role in declaring war, and a resolution asking him to submit for treaty ratification the recent executive agreements governing U.S. bases on the Azores and Bahrain.

Executive agreements, which outnumber treaties four to one, are not submitted for congressional approval.

Increasingly, says Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., important commitments are made in the agreements and minor matters are covered by treaty.

The bill passed Wednesday by the Senate and still subject to House consideration, requires the complete texts of all executive agreements be deposited with Congress.

Agreements the president regards as sensitive or of a classified military nature would be sent to the foreign-relations committees of both houses with appropriate instructions for handling.

Local Man Charged With Youth's Rape

Clarence (Porky) Sawyer, 50, Route 2, Williamsport, pleaded not guilty in a preliminary hearing to the rape of a 7-year-old girl Thursday morning in Municipal Court "so my accusers can face me" in the continuation of the hearing 10:30 a.m. Feb. 24.

He was arrested Wednesday at his home by Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz, City police Sgt. Wes Barton and dispatcher Jean Himrod after a complaint was filed by the juvenile's mother.

Judge Sterling Lamb, ordering the continuance, also continued $50,000 bond set yesterday on Sawyer.

His wife, Dotta, 20, is also being held in the Pickaway County jail awaiting a hearing on the charge of contributing.

Sawyer has been arrested five times since 1953 on contributing and statutory rape charges.

Reds Fined For Fishing Off Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Three Soviet fishing officers await release today after a month in U.S. custody on charges of illegal fisheries support activity in an American fishing zone.

The men were fined $80,000 in U.S. District Court Wednesday after changing their pleas from innocent to no contest. A finding of guilty was directed after the change.

G. Kent Edwards, U.S. attorney for Alaska, said the officers would be released after their fines were paid. The money was expected to be forwarded to the Justice Department from the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

Edwards also announced Wednesday that an out-of-court agreement had resulted in a $170,000 assessment against the two Soviet fishing vessels which were seized by the Coast Guard Jan. 17. The vessels had been liable to confiscation.

Vladimir Artemov, master of an 80-ship Soviet herring fleet working the Bering Sea, and Igor Boytun, skipper of the 362-foot factory ship Lamut, were fined $30,000 each. Nikolai Pavluk, master of the trawler Kolyan, was fined $20,000.

The Soviet ships were seized by the cutter Storist about nine miles from St. Matthew island, an uninhabited dot about 200 miles off the western Alaskan coast.

The Lamut then attempted to flee but was recaptured.

Full Freeze For DP&L Included

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Wednesday ordered all major natural gas companies in the state to stop soliciting new business.

The order was part of broad new restrictions approved by the commission on the expansion of natural gas service to Ohio consumers.

Chairman Henry Eckhart said the actions were taken because a recent investigation showed there is no assurance that there will be an adequate supply of natural gas to meet demands of consumers next winter.

"Restrictions upon new customers and on customers contemplating substantial increases appear to be justified," Eckhart said.

The commission ruled: —All Ohio natural gas companies which distribute more than 2 billion cubic feet of gas per day must cease all promotional activities designed to acquire new customers or increase sales to existing customers.

—Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., and the Ohio Valley Gas Co. may refuse new service to any applicant "other than residential type" and refuse additional volumes of gas to existing, non-residential customers, except those already under contract.

—The Dayton Power and Light Co. may impose a complete freeze and deferral of all new gas loads, including residential.

—The Ohio Gas Co. may refuse new service to any new commercial applicant that expects to use more than 2 million cubic feet per day, and may refuse new or additional service to industrial users.

—Toledo Edison Co. may refuse all applications for service at new premises, regardless of intended use.

Other companies could be granted similar restrictions, Eckhart said, if they request them, as the companies cited Wednesday had done.

Roundtown

A traffic signaling device has been re-installed at the intersections of Mound and Pickaway Sts., according to Ed Ebert, city safety director. However, the traffic light at Mound and Washington Sts. will be removed, placed at the Mound-Pickaway crossing and replaced by four-way stop signs. Purpose of the move, according to Ebert, is to cut costs for the city. Ohio law requires two traffic devices at each intersection, so the Mound-Washington was removed to provide two lights for Mound-Pickaway. The light was ripped out two weeks ago following a traffic accident.

Hughes Believed To Have Left Bahamas

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Billionaire recluse Howard Hughes has moved out of his hotel hideaway here and may have left the Bahamas in secrecy, sources said today.

An official of Paradise Island Limited said Hughes may have left the island last weekend with a few members of his staff.

Paradise Island Limited owns and operates the Britannia Beach Hotel, where the 66-year-old industrialist has been reported living in seclusion since leaving Las Vegas, Nev., on Thanksgiving Eve in 1970. Hughes has not been seen publicly since 1953.

One source said the 66-year-old industrialist might be headed for Mexico.

The Paradise Island official said several members of Hughes' staff, who remained at the hotel, "were escorted to the airport and asked to leave the country by (Bahamas) immigration officials Tuesday afternoon."

Immigration officials at Nassau could not be reached for comment.

Baltron Bethel, a senior Bahamian government official, said Hughes himself had not been ordered to leave the island.

But when asked whether any members of Hughes' staff had been asked to leave, Bethel replied: "Mr. Hughes' staff like any other staff of anyone else, must comply with immigration rules and procedures of the Bahamas."

Bethel, permanent secretary to the ministry of Home Affairs, the office responsible for immigration, said the matter was under investigation and declined further comment.

Three airplanes believed to be at the disposal of Hughes were at Nassau Airport.

Reliable sources had reported that immigration officials raided Hughes' ninth floor suite at the Britannia Beach Hotel here Wednesday to learn whether members of the Hughes staff had government work permits.

A question on the status of his staff members had been raised last week in Parliament.

The report that Hughes had been ordered to leave was denied later today by Preston Al-

PASTOR CLYDE SMITH

Pastor Smith To Conduct Smoking Withdrawal Clinic

Registrations are now being taken at the YMCA Office for American Cancer Society Office and can be made by phone at either locations for a five-day smoking withdrawal clinic which will start 7:30 p. m. Sunday, at the local YMCA, 151

E. Franklin St. A small registration fee is charged. Pastoral Psychologist, Clyde Smith will conduct the five-day clinic in association with the American Cancer Society and the YMCA.

The program, according to Pastor Smith, will include films, short lectures, group dynamics, and question periods on smoking and health. A local physician, Doctor William A. Meyers, will be present on Tuesday and Thursday evenings to answer questions on the medical aspects of the smoking and health problem.

Included in the program will be information on how to handle the weight gain problem associated with kicking the smoking habit.

There are no medications used in the clinic and each registrant under doctor's care will remain under care of his own physician. Pastor Smith stresses that the program is a 5-night program and the registrant must attend the five-nights to receive full benefit and to be completely successful.

Although he said, the ideal class size is around 20-40 persons, everyone who wishes to register will be enrolled since this is the first such clinic to be conducted in Pickaway County. Pastor Smith also said that wives or husbands of registrants should attend, although they will not be required to register unless they are smokers themselves.

According to the instructor, it has been established that if present trends in smoking continues, by 1975 over 750,000 persons in the U.S. will die every year from smoking related diseases. It is a matter of life or death.

17-Year-Olds Seek Vote In Primary

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati attorney who won the right for out-of-town students to vote where they go to college is now trying to extend primary election voting rights to 17-year-olds who will be 18 in November.

Richard Springer filed the action Wednesday in U.S. District court on behalf of three 17-year-olds, all children of members of the Ohio League of Women Voters.

Springer asked the court to throw out the section of the new Ohio voting law which insists all voters be 18 at the time they vote. The suit noted that before the voting age was lowered to 18 from 21, that 20-year-olds were permitted to vote in primaries if they would be 21 by November. They asked the court to extend the same privilege to 17-year-olds.

The plaintiffs were John Gaunt Jr. and Sarah Prince, both of Cincinnati Walnut Hills High School, and Harry Rosenbluth of Finneytown. Named as defendants were Ohio Secretary of State Ted Brown and the Hamilton County Board of Elections.

Telephone Strike Ends In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Telephone craftsmen in New York State have ratified a three-year contract, ending the longest strike in telephone company history.

Members of the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO voted 13,769 to 9, 193 Wednesday to end the 218-day walkout that has halted more than 200,000 phone installations and deprived 32,000 workers of an estimated $300 million in wages.

New Hampshire Bombings Bring Tighter Security

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Security precautions for political campaign headquarters in Manchester were strengthened today as authorities investigated a series of bombings which damaged the police and fire stations Wednesday.

Officials said they were taking "every precaution" after the bombings and the seizure of a letter signed by the "People's Liberation Army" which indicated there might be further attacks.

"It's very difficult to determine whether this was a large group or a small group," Atty. Gen. Warren Rudman said. He said there was no indication that more than two persons might have been involved, but the investigation "could carry almost anywhere."

A young man and a young woman were arrested Wednesday after three bombs shattered windows at the police station and the nearby fire department headquarters. No officers were hurt.

Jaun Karl Lamman, 23, of Buffalo, N.Y., also listed as Karl A. Laaman, and Kathryn A. Holt, 21, who had addresses in Boston, Buffalo, N.Y., and Portsmouth and Dover, N.H., were arrested.

Both were held on $30,000 bail after arraignment in state court. Two charges of damage to a public building were lodged against Lamman and two accessory charges against Miss Holt. Both were charged with unlawful transportation of explosives.

Later, federal warrants were issued charging the two with illegal possession of an unregistered explosive and maliciously damaging and attempting to destroy a building used by an organization which receives federal financial aid, the police headquarters.

Authorities said a statement taken from one of those arrested apparently was to have been mailed to newspapers after the explosions. The statement linked the bombing with an antiwar demonstration last Saturday at President Nixon's campaign headquarters.

"We bombed Nixon's headquarters, we simultaneously bombed police headquarters from three sides—offices, pig lounge area and garage area," the statement said. "We've shown them what to expect."

Fire Levels Area Barn

Fire, of undetermined origin, leveled a 45-foot by 120-foot barn before the Williamsport Fire Department arrived to fight the blaze Wednesday morning.

A passing truck driver spotted flames 3:42 a.m. Wednesday "north of Route 22 near Williamsport" and reported the fire to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. The Williamsport fire unit was immediately notified and arrived 8 minutes later but the barn, owned by Dale Gifford, Smith - Hulse Road, had apparently been burning for some time.

Loss on the building was set at $20,000 and loss to farm implements inside the barn were also estimated at $20,000.

Believed destroyed in the blaze were 2 farm tractors, 800 bales of straw, a manure spreader, 2 farm wagons, 2 hay wagons, 2 gravity bed wagons, 2 choppers, a bale thrower, a two-wheel trailer, and 4 50-gallon barrels of oil.

Jackie Tells Of Fright By Photog

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis has testified that composed, smiling photographs of her taken by free-lance photographer Ronald Galella often depicted a face "masking alarm and fright."

"I would try not to let those emotions appear on my face," the widow of President John F. Kennedy said Wednesday during two hours on the witness stand in U.S. District Court.

Mrs. Onassis appeared composed as she told the court she had become "terrified ... frightened and distressed" on many occasions by Galella's persistent efforts to photograph her and her children.

She is a defendant in a $1.3-million suit by Galella, who charges that she and Secret Service agents who guard her have interfered with his livelihood.

Mrs. Onassis, claiming Galella has pursued her relentlessly and invaded her privacy, seek a permanent injunction against harassment by the photographer.

All charges and counter-charges are being heard in a juryless trial before Judge Irving Ben Cooper.

Irving's Wife Arrested, Freed On Recognizance

NEW YORK (AP) — "Edith Margrith Irving, I have a warrant for your arrest," said the U.S. marshal formally to the composed, but somber woman facing proceedings for extradition to Switzerland.

Mrs. Irving, a 36-year-old Swiss citizen, is wanted by Swiss authorities on charges in connection with the purported "autobiography" of Howard Hughes compiled by her husband, Clifford Irving.

Dressed in a black jacket, brown pleated skirt and red and orange blouse, Mrs. Irving smiled to reporters as she entered federal court building Wednesday to surrender herself. A warrant for her arrest was obtained by Swiss authorities Tuesday. She is charged with counterfeiting, forgery and theft larceny.

U.S. Magistrate Martin D. Jacobs released her on $250,000 personal recognizance bond and limited her travel to New York and Connecticut.

Richardson Opposes Busing Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Education Secretary Elliot Richardson says he is inclined to solutions other than a constitutional amendment to halt busing.

Speaking with newsmen Wednesday, Richardson said a constitutional ban "could have the effect of actually undercutting and rolling back the measures that have been taken to dismantle the dual school system, even in situations not involving massive transportation."

Economic Crisis Hurts Heath Plans

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The flash economic crisis resulting from the British coal strike today threatened Prime Minister Edward Heath's plans to lead Britain into the European Common Market.

It also provided a somber prelude for the British leader's talks this weekend with President Georges Pompidou of France on the future shape of allied Europe.

A three-day debate in the House of Commons ends tonight with a vote on the European Communities bill, key legislation to accomplish Britain's entry into the Common Market next year. The Conservative government expects to win, but the circumstances in which Britain now can link up with Europe have worsened dangerously.

It had been Heath's aim to lead a strong, buoyant, thriving Britain into the Common Market.

Until last month the prospects seemed bright.

The pound sterling was riding high.

British exports were humming, easily outstripping imports.

It seemed as if Heath's unyielding resistance to inflationary wage claims was working, opening the way to an export-led boom that would soak up the one million British unemployed.

But last month things began going wrong.

First, exports started sliding, leaving January's trade in the red.

Unemployment kept rising.

Output over the past four months slumped while industrial investment remained stagnant.

Then came the coal strike leading into the staggering electric power crisis that has shattered hopes of any early economic expansion.

Already leaders of industry have warned the government that massive aid will be needed.

Stock List Holds Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market held onto moderate gains today. Trading was active, with the New York Stock Exchange ticker backed up several times during the morning.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was ahead 3.91 at 926.85.

Among issues traded, gaipers led losers by nearly 2 to 1.

Analysts said today's advance was a follow-up to Wednesday's strong gain, motivated in part by favorable economic news.

Airlines were strong, with American Airlines up ¾ to 46½; Eastern Air Lines, ahead ½ to 26; Pan Am, up ¼ to 16 and UAL Inc., up ¼ to 49.

In glimmers, IBM was up 1½ at 370¼; Polaroid was ahead 2 to 112; Control Data was up ¼ at 57½; and Xerox was up ½ at 133½.

Peking Atom Pact Urged By Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon should discuss a nuclear nonaggression pact with China during his visit to Peking, says Sen. George McGovern.

The South Dakota Democrat said Tuesday he has written a letter urging the President to take up the issue, and to seek the release of three American pilots held by the Chinese.

Humphrey Supported By Labor

By MICHAEL PUTZEL Associated Press Writer

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who suffered some recent setbacks in efforts to hold on to his traditional support from organized labor is running ahead of other presidential hopefuls in three polls of key AFL-CIO local leaders and has won endorsement from a union leaders' meeting in Minnesota, his home state.

The AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) revealed results Wednesday of polls it took among conference delegates in Atlanta, Dallas, Cincinnati and Florida. Humphrey led but received less than a majority in the three cities, with Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine running from less than 2 to 13 percentage points behind and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington third.

Jackson led in the Florida poll, followed by Humphrey, Muskie and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama. All are running as Democrats.

President Nixon received less than 1 per cent in the three city polls and no delegate votes in Florida.

In Minneapolis, where Humphrey told a meeting of 300 union business agents from Minneapolis-St. Paul that "I am your champion," the officers endorsed him by acclamation.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said only a day earlier that Humphrey had "not a chance" of getting the labor federation's endorsement before the Democratic National Convention in July.

Man Slightly Hurt In Car-Truck Hit

Granville E. Merritt, 20, Route 1, Ashville, was referred to a doctor for treatment of facial bruises after his small, foreign car flipped over in a ditch on the Harrisburg - Fairfield Road 8:50 a.m. Wednesday.

Merritt told investigating Deputy Sheriff Bob Hoover that he was in the process of passing a telephone van truck, when the truck swerved to its left, attempting to drive into a private lane.

Driver of the truck was Howard Payne, 20, 450 Ray Ave. Neither driver was cited by Hoover.

Ship Sinking Investigated

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A pumpman who left the tanker V. A. Fogg shortly before its final voyage says he repaired various leaky pipes aboard the vessel.

Charles Floyd Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., told a U.S. Coast Guard board of inquiry on Wednesday of repairing leaks from wing tanks into the cofferdam area in both the forward and after sections of the vessel.

He said that in the after pumproom the seals on some pumps were leaking and at one time put eight inches of a chemical into pumproom bilges.

The Coast Guard Board is investigating the sinking of the Fogg. Wreckage of the Fogg has been discovered on the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico about 50 miles southeast of Galveston. Divers said they discovered evidence of a tremendous explosion.

The Fogg, with 39 men aboard, left Freeport, Texas Feb. 1 on a short voyage to Galveston. The ship was to have gone out into the Gulf to clean her tanks of benzene residue before going to Galveston. She was still carrying 19,000 gallons of explosive xylene.

Items Taken From Trailer

Joe Spears, Route 1, Circleville, told Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies that thieves broke into a wooden trailer in a field on the Hayesville-Adelphi Road Tuesday and stole approximately $1,189 in merchandise.

Spears, trying to find a home in the county, parked the trailer in the field until he could find a place to live.

Missing are a bicycle, tape player, 20 stereo tapes, a television, two dogs, children's clothing and assorted house ware items.

British Fear Soviet Power

LONDON (AP) — The British government warned Wednesday that Soviet military power around the world is building up fast and now includes about 2,100 intercontinental and medium-range missiles and 11,400 warplanes at the ready.

A government White Paper on British defense plans for 1972-73 claimed the Russians now are devoting 8 per cent of their Gross National Product to defense, more than any other European country. And the British predicted a further hoist of up to 5 per cent in the years ahead.

But Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government announced that Britain's own defense spending in the 1972-73 fiscal year will stand still.

The estimated budget was set at $7.42 billion.

Soviets Support Makarios Stand

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The government of President Makarios received expressions of support Wednesday from the Soviet Union and Poland. Public demonstrations here continued to back the Cypriot leader in his confrontation with the Greek military regime.

Civil war clouds are looming over Cyprus and there are reports that Makarios might turn to the Soviet Union for help.

The Soviet Union charged that the Greek government, supported by the United States, had taken a "very dangerous step" by attempting to intervene in the domestic affairs of Cyprus.

90,000 Reds 'Disappear' From South Vietnam Count

WASHINGTON (AP) — Somehow, about 90,000 of the enemy have disappeared from South Vietnam since last year.

Whether most of them ever were here is open to question. In his annual report to Congress, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday there are at least 150,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

In his report nearly a year ago, Laird spoke of at least 240,000 enemy in the South.

Such a drastic drop in enemy strength in just a year's time is puzzling because Defense officials have been saying they believe most new soldiers were infiltrated from North Vietnam to replace battlefield losses.

When asked to explain the 90,000 decrease, the Pentagon said Laird's statements "probably involve a shifting of identified units in Cambodia or Laos as well as other refinements not reflected in last year's defense report."

However, the Defense secretary's figures on Cambodia show an increase of only about 5,000 North Vietnamese and other Communist soldiers over last year's 55,000-plus. This would not suggest any major movement of North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam into Cambodia in 1971.

As for Laos, Laird's report estimated current North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao strength there is at least 120,000, a decrease of about 25,000 from a year ago. This, too, would seem to discount the likelihood that significant numbers of enemy troops were shifted from South Vietnam into Laos.

The Pentagon said its intelligence specialists are collecting and evaluating data continuously and that this "normally results in more precise data."

A unit identifications, strengths, and locations are verified and updated," the Pentagon said, it becomes possible "to eliminate duplicate reports, units operating under two or more designators and other such features that mask the true picture of enemy strengths."

However, military officers and civilian officials acknowledge in private that they have reservations about figures on enemy strength.

The validity of statistics on enemy casualties and infiltration rates have been debated throughout the war.

Social Consequences

The trend on some campuses toward increasingly heavy doses of social science courses and a corresponding drop in arts and sciences is widely noted with concern. Not because more students are being exposed to the interacting human forces. That could be a good influence, if students do not neglect the talents which will permit them to do something about human problems.

Some sound words on the subject appeared in the London Daily Telegraph recently. "No one," said the paper, "but a sociologist would, of course, suggest that the state should use its power bluntly to prevent young men and women from reading the subjects of their choice.

"But it is permissible to feel that the present trend indicates a cultural deficiency, particularly as the social sciences seem to be expanding at the cost of the arts and sciences . . .

"The prospect of an academic elite ever more lacking in the traditional learned virtues of objectivity and detachment, and increasingly ill-equipped for literate communication with the rest of society, is dangerous as well as distasteful."

Trading perspective for zeal and literacy for activism can have damaging results. Results which have nothing to do with either science or sociability.

Big Cat Ban

It was a commendable decision by the government to propose listing all the spotted cats included among the endangered wildlife species. If the proposal is not reversed after public hearings it would mean the end to importing skins from such animals as tigers, leopards, cheetahs and jaguars into the United States.

These and other animals valued for their fur are in a serious decline. They are being hunted mercilessly by poachers, who are secure in the knowledge they can expect handsome payment if they can smuggle the skins out of the country of origin.

The United States has been the prime market for these skins, and thus has been contributing in a real sense to the decline of these animals. Shutting out this market would not stop the decimation completely. Europe remains in the market in a large way.

But it would help cut the profit from under the poachers, and it would help publicize the plight of these magnificent creatures. In any case, this nation does itself no credit by being an unwitting party to a trade which is both destructive and largely illegal.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — A significant escalation of the war of the tapes begins this week, a battle that involves on one side the music industry and on the other the illegal duplicators of music and the retailers who sell their product.

The legal music industry is now armed with copyright protection that gives them considerably more power to prevent duplication of their music, a practice that some industry officials say siphons off as much as $200 million a year.

Until now, duplication of music mechanically reproduced escaped coverage of the federal copyright laws. And few states had laws that permitted the legal owners of music to take quick and effective action.

One important effect of the new law on the public in general is that a 120-day hiatus in the production of new music will in all probability end.

It took four months for the law, signed Oct. 15, to become effective. During that time many artists reportedly withheld their new offerings so as to be better protected when the law became effective Feb. 15.

Copyright owners of music now can obtain injunctions to halt infringement, can recover damages and can have impounded all infringing copies. Moreover, the illegal duplicator faces fines and imprisonment.

Illegal duplication became a big industry although made up mainly of small operators. It was an easy business in which to be successful. You merely duplicated tapes of a legitimate producer then arranged for a retailer to sell them.

Sometimes the duplicator protected himself from suits by sending royalty payments to

Scioto County Auditor Blasts Property Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Roy Vastine, Scioto County auditor, Wednesday criticized the state's property tax structure, describing it as "unfair, totally confused and impossible to effectively administer."

He appealed to a subcommittee of the Joint House-Senate Ways and Means Committee investigating Ohio's tax picture for a "full blown tax reform package."

"Rules and practices of tax assessment are an unbelievable hodge-podge," Vastine declared. "It is an impossible situation."

He said a recent Board of Tax Appeals ruling setting 35 percent of true value the tax base of real property had only compounded an already muddled issue.

MONTREAL (AP) — Three young Montrealeers are battling pollution by scrounging through refuse from bars and apartment blocks for bottles that can be recycled and sold in their craft shop. The trio turns the bottles into goblets, jardinières, candle holders, lamps, jewelry and punch bowl sets.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I know that there are two forms of arthritis, but I never can keep them straight in my mind.

My mother suffers from a form of arthritis and I am anxious to know if this condition is hereditary.

Miss R. L. Kan.

Dear Miss L.: The two major forms of arthritis are rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis.

Before I make the distinction between the two, I want to point out that there are many infectious diseases which, when untreated, may develop arthritis as a complication.

Pneumonia and tuberculosis, syphilis and gonorrhea may be responsible for an inflammation of the joints, a form of arthritis unrelated to the two basic classifications.

Rheumatoid arthritis begins as an inflammation in the soft tissues around the joints. Swelling and pain and redness may involve the ligaments, the tendons, and later, the lining of the joints. This painful condition is chiefly a disease that affects young adults below the age of 40. It can occasionally occur in teenagers.

Rheumatoid arthritis differs from osteoarthritis, which is a degenerative process that occurs in older people.

Eventually, this degeneration, if unchecked, may lead to bony deposits at the edge of the joints and at the adjacent ligaments and tendons.

In general, rheumatoid arthritis progresses more rapidly and is more crippling than osteoarthritis.

It is believed there may be a hereditary factor in osteoarthritis, but this has never been completely accepted.

Both forms of arthritis need finely detailed management and strict medical supervision over a long period of time.

Many of the newer drugs and various forms of heat and water therapy are very effective in relieving the pain and discomfort of arthritis.

The knowledge about these diseases is vast, though there are still areas that have never been thoroughly understood. Doctors try a wide variety of treatments. Many of them are effective; some are not.

The American Medical Association has a year-round intensive campaign to keep "anyone with arthritis from being exploited by quackery, useless gadgets, and worthless drugs."

Two members of my family had aneurysms during their adult life. What causes it?

Mr. P.D.B., Texas

I know of no better way to describe an aneurysm of an artery than to say it resembles a bubble on the inner tube of a tire. This "bubble" is due to some weakness of the muscles that line the small and large arteries of the body.

An injury may be the cause, but more often there is inherent weakness, or the aftermath of some vascular disorder.

Haldeman Caper

By JEFFERY HANT

H. R. "Bob" Haldeman, Nixon's guardian-at-the-game at the entrance of the Oval Office, suddenly finds himself, of all things, Joe McCarthy reincarnate. Democratic National Chairman Larry O'Brien reached out instantly to the trusty shade of Old Joe in responding to those remarks by Haldeman on NBC's Today show, and called them "a chilling reminder of similar rhetoric employed by others in the darker days of the 1950's."

Mike Mansfield announced with a straight face that Haldeman was trying to abolish the First Amendment, and Mayor John V. Lindsay ruled him incompatible with democracy.

It's a tempest in a teapot, of course, but, even so, not an uninteresting one. Haldeman's offense was to observe publicly that certain unnamed Democrats were "consciously" aiding the enemy in Vietnam. Certainly an undiplomatic thought. But is it also untrue?

Sen. George McGovern naturally thought that Haldeman had him in mind, and responded with a vehement defense of his own patriotism, which is fair enough. But McGovern has also put forward his own "peace plan" for Vietnam. He maintains that we should cut off all aid to South Vietnam by May 1, end recognition of the Thieu government, withdraw all U.S. troops from Vietnam, and halt all air strikes against the infiltration routes and other targets.

Returning now to Haldeman's

TV statement, there can be no doubt that McGovern's position does "aid the enemy," in the sense that a prominent America spokesman supports in toto the enemy's proposals. This, in turn, brings up to Haldeman's adverb "consciously." Is the word inaccurate or unfair? Only if Senator McGovern is "unconscious" of the coincidence between his own position and that of the enemy. And it is difficult to believe that he is.

As Haldeman noted in elaboration during the TV interview, the President's eight-point plan does everything the liberal Democrats have been demanding. It admits the local Communists to a political role in the South. It establishes an interim administrative apparatus to oversee elections. It offers to negotiate an overall settlement. The one thing it does not do is to ensure the establishment of a Communist government in Saigon. "The only conclusion you can draw," Haldeman continued, "is that the President's critics are in favor of putting a Communist government in South Vietnam, and insisting that that be done, too. That's something we aren't going to do."

In that formulation, "the President's critics" may be rather too vague. If Haldeman had said "certain critics, such as Sen. George McGovern," he would have been precisely correct, and self-evidently correct.

Oddly enough, Haldeman is now being written up as "one of the most conservative-oriented advisers in the White House," as the New York Times account put it. In fact, he has no discernible ideological position and is, indeed, the bete noir of Washington conservatives. They had expected great access to the President than Haldeman's ideological neutrality has permitted.

World War 2 Marked Mao's Ascendancy

Editor's Note—As he travels the road to Peking next week President Nixon will see, figuratively, the signposts left by Japan, for much of this century the scourge of China and now one of America's staunchest allies. Along the way, too, are remnants of history left by such figures as Stalin and Roosevelt—and Chiang Kai-shek. This fourth in a series of five articles brings the story of China into the era of World War II and its aftermath.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Joseph Stalin, the story goes, once sent Mao Tse-tung a long treatise on how a revolutionary war should be fought.

Mao is said to have turned the document over to Lin Biao, then a close revolutionary comrade-in-arms, for his comments. Lin read the Stalin essay, says the legend, then remarked: "If we had this as our text, we would have been wiped out 10 years ago."

Considering himself the fountainhead of Marxist-Leninist wisdom, Stalin felt his recommendations to be nothing less than immutable law.

But often Stalin's advice to the Chinese was dictated less by his concern for the movement than by Soviet national interests. This was the case in the 1930s when Stalin, dreading the potential of a dynamic and aggressive Japan, ordered the Communists to join a united front with Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang.

The fear of Japan was shared by Chiang and Communists. The sharp pain of China's first defeat by an Asian nation had come in 1895 in a clash that lost Taiwan with other islands, and brought deep psychological shock. For Japan, 1895 marked the beginning of a half century of dogged effort to bring all China under Japanese "protection."

Japan's invasion of Manchuria and north China in the '30s left Chiang's shaky Kuomintang confronting the perils of a two-front war. Chiang had been industriously engaged in an annihilation campaign against the Communists and had driven them into hiding in remote Shensi Province.

But Japan's aggressions provided a golden opportunity for Mao Tse-tung, by then in full control of his party.

Mao would continue to regard and treat Chiang as his chief enemy, even while fighting alongside Kuomintang forces against the Japanese.

His right-hand man Chou En-lai arranged for a mid-1936 meeting in Shanghai with Kuomintang representatives. There he offered to integrate the Red army with Chiang's command.

In the north, Chang Hsueh-liang, son of a slain warlord and known as "the Young Marshal," commanded Chiang's northeast army. He had become convinced, however, that resistance to Japan should take precedence over war with Mao.

Anxious about the situation, Chiang decided on a personal visit to the young marshal's command at Sian. While there he was placed under arrest—in effect, kidnapped—by Gen. Yan Jucheng, commander of Chiang's northwest army, who shared the young marshal's views. Chiang was to be hostage for an end of the civil war and for a united effort against Japan. But the young marshal feared that Chiang's stubbornness would cost the Kuomintang leader his life. The young marshal personally released Chiang and fled with him to Nanking, where Chiang had his liberator arrested and jailed.

But the kidnapping incident had proved important in breaking down Chiang's resistance to united front negotiations.

As Japanese forces moved in to Shantung province, Communist-Kuomintang negotiations were resumed.

In July 1937, Japan attacked the Marco Polo Bridge near Peking. That signified the end of any kind of Japanese restraint. Now the united-front tactic would be the more potent.

Chiang, fully aware of the risk, accepted a Chou compromise offer. The Communists would forgo revolutionary violence. The Red army would integrate with Kuomintang forces under Chiang's over-all command. Mao's troops would be renamed "8th Route Army."

The front worked as long as each side wanted it to work.

The two armies fought the Japanese together, but not for long. Chiang hoarded his reserves with the idea that Mao eventually would be his main enemy. The Communists, under Chu Teh's command, began a policy of fighting Japanese only when necessary and directing much effort toward subversion, infiltration and harassment of Kuomintang forces.

To the peasants, however, the Communists appeared to be the ones who were patriotically trying to stop the Japanese. This worked in Mao's favor. At the time the party's hard inner core probably was no more than 40,000, despite millions of unsophisticated followers, but Mao and Chou had produced a situation in which the Kuomintang stood little chance of winning.

Stalin had never hesitated in the past to give Soviet national interests clear precedence over international communism. He did so once again when, dreading the possibility of a two-front war, he recognized Japan's conquest of Manchuria. In return, Japan recognized the permanent separation from China of Outer Mongolia, by then a Soviet satellite. That freed Russian troops to keep watch on the Germans, and Japanese to embark on a wider military quest for a "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere."

As the tide of World War II began to shift in East and West alike against the Axis powers, the United States urgently sought unity of the contending political factions in China in the interest of more effective prosecution of the conflict on the mainland. But Mao and Chiang each seemed to hope that the Japanese and his Chinese antagonists would exhaust one another. President Franklin D. Roosevelt sent Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley to China in search of unity. His labors would prove fruitless.

The dreadful thunder of the U.S. atom bomb brought the American war with Japan to an abrupt end. Eager for a share of spoils, Stalin had declared war on an already defeated Japan only two days before her surrender to the Americans.

Then Stalin signed a treaty with Chiang Kai-shek promising that Soviet aid would go only to Chiang's government as the recognized regime, pledging no interference with China's internal affairs and declaring that Soviet troops would withdraw promptly from Manchuria. The promises were in line with the big powers' Yalta agreements. Stalin kept none of them.

The Russians dismantled Manchuria's industry and hauled it off as war booty. They gathered mountains of Japanese arms which eventually would fall into Communist hands. They obstructed Chiang's attempts to counter a Communist drive in Manchuria.

Mao's forces made great progress on their own. Having impressed the peasants with exemplary behavior, in contrast with that of the Japanese and some Kuomintang forces, the Communists could move in behind withdrawing Japanese and methodically set up local authority.

Looking to postwar Asian problems, the United States continued its efforts toward reconciliation of the two sides in China. With a U.S. guarantee of safe conduct, Mao for the first time in his 51 years boarded an airplane. It took him and Chou En-lai to Chungking, Chiang's capital, where Chou did all the talking with Chiang's representatives.

Each time it appeared that agreement was possible, Chou would increase his demands. Clearly, the talks would wind up nowhere, and Hurley resigned his mission in indignant frustration, claiming both sides sabotaged his efforts.

President Harry S. Truman sent Gen. George C. Marshall to China.

Marshall was hailed by Mao Tse-tung and toasted warmly by the Communists during a visit to their Yen'an headquarters, but he had no more chance of success than his predecessor found.

Having infiltrated Manchuria heavily, the Communists now were moving swiftly through North China in the wake of Japanese withdrawal. The civil war had come in earnest and Marshall, after desperate attempts to bring about a truce, pronounced a "pox on" both houses and gave up.

Chiang's Kuomintang forces ran into one disaster after another. Despite about $1 billion worth of American arms aid, the Kuomintang was no match for the now well-armed Communists. Internal corruption, weak leadership and indiscipline, plus lack of public support and Chiang's reputation for dictatorial rule, all combined to make the Kuomintang's defeat inevitable.

Now Stalin worried that the Chinese Communists were progressing too swiftly. He would have preferred a protracted struggle which might waste American resources. He instructed Mao to slow down. Mao ignored the Kremlin master.

Chiang's rule of the mainland ended in the fall of 1949. What was left of his forces fled to Taiwan. On Oct. 1, 1949, Mao Tse-tung stood atop the Gate of Heavenly Peace at the entrance to the 500-year-old imperial palace and announced to the world:

"The People's Republic of China is now established."

Emmett Chapel Society Has Scripture Programs

Mrs. David Dumm and Mrs. Wells Wilson presented programs for the recent meeting of Emmett Chapel Women's Society of Christian Service at the church. Thirteen members answered roll call by naming their favorite hymn.

Mrs. H. H. Shuttleworth opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Kenneth Shepler read Proverbs 17 and Mrs. Robert Valentine read "The Great Physician." Members joined hands in prayer.

Mrs. Shepler displayed pills and medicine. Each member received capsules filled with Scripture pertaining to love, joy and peace, which they read. Mrs. Shepler read a story taken from Proverbs 17:22 "A cheerful heart does good like medicine, but a broken spirit makes one sick."

Mrs. H. H. Shuttleworth, Mrs. Foster Jenne and Mrs. James Short celebrated birthdays this month. Plans were made for a Stock Sale dinner at Bowling Stockyards Feb. 23rd.

Mrs. Dumm told the story of Abigail, a woman of the Bible taken from 1 Samuel 25:1-42. Abigail was an intelligent Jewish beauty. She was married to Nabal, a harsh, rude, brutal man who was an unbeliever. A beautiful woman with a beautiful mind is surely one of God's masterpieces. She knew God and although she lived in an unhappy home she remained a saint.

David, being in need of food for his herd of 600 followers, asked Nabal for food. He had often helped Nabal's herdsmen when they were in need. Nabal, being the mean man that he was, refused. Angered, David threatened to kill Nabal and those around him. Abigail, learning from a servant what had happened gathered together food and wine. The intervention of Abigail shows how we have wisdom to impart, faith to share and help to offer.

Abigail returned to her husband and took up her hard and bitter life. It is to her credit After Nabal's death, David and Abigail were married, ending the story.

Mrs. Gordon Hannigan and Mrs. Jim Ullman were asked to be a committee for prayer partners. They are to prepare a program and present it at the next meeting.

Mrs. Wells Wilson led a program titled "Following Jesus." She told how persons must deny themselves and take up a cross and follow Jesus. She used Scripture taken from Mark 8:34, 1 Peter 2:21-24, Matthew 4:19, Romans 10:10.

Mrs. Wilson told of her conversion and how the Lord is dealing with her each day. She said that one cannot follow Jesus unless born again and really filled with His love.

She closed her portion of the program by saying "Keep following, keep loving, keep praying and pray that we would all be filled with love."

It was reported that 28 calls and 44 cards were sent during the past month, and the World-Wide Day of Prayer will be March 3rd. A guest for the evening was Mrs. Robert Parmer.

Mrs. Shepler served refreshments from a table decorated in the valentine theme.

A funny thing about backs. Everyone thinks they're good and straight yet they are full of curves. And no two are alike. That's why Simmons has created the Beautyrest® Back Care mattress.

Most extra-firm mattresses are made very hard and "Boardy" so you lie on your hips and shoulders. With your spine sagging in between.

Beautyrest Back Care is different. It is made of separate extra-strong coils that are free to react separately and support whatever part of your body they are under. It conforms to the curves of your own unique back. And keeps your spine straight. You get the best rest a body ever had.

If you want normal-firm support in a mattress, try the Beautyrest Supreme. Both mattresses are now treated with Scotchgard® fabric protector to resist spots and stains for years.

Beautyrest Back Care 1 or Beautyrest Supreme twin or full size mattress or foundation — $99.95 each; Extra long twin size — $219.95 set; Queen size — $269.95 set; King size — $389.95.

STAR GRANGE

"Valentine Greetings" was the theme of the program at Star Grange when they met Tuesday evening in the Monroe School auditorium for their regular meeting.

The worthy Master, Harold Furniss, presided over the business session and heard the various reports. The secretary, Helen Hammel, read a "Thank You" note from Harry J. Smith for the flower and cards he received while he was in the hospital. She also read a letter of appreciation from Mr. John Reid, Berger Hospital Administrator, for the contribution toward the purchase of a heart monitor.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore asked that their names be removed from the roll. Mrs. Wilbur Beathard, chairman of the Woman's Activity Committee reported on the meeting held Saturday at the 4-H and Grange building and urged all members to participate in the sewing and baking contests which will be coming up in April.

The county-wide Grange banquet will be held Saturday evening Feb. 26 at 6:30 p.m. at the 4-H and Grange building. A covered dish supper will be served. There is to be an exhibit of antiques and each grange will assist with the program of talent and history. Inspection will be held at the next regular Grange meeting on Feb. 22 and the first degree will be exemplified. All former members of the team are urged to be present and dues should be paid before inspection.

Mrs. Paul Dawson, lecturer, opened her program with a piano solo, "When You and I Were Young Maggie" by Helen Hammel.

Jimmy Beathard read a poem, "When Grandpa Courted Grandma" and Mrs. Otha Lewis read "The Valentine Box". Each member present drew a Valentine and wrote a favorite verse on it then they joined in a friendship circle and passed the Valentines to their neighbor at the word stop, you were asked to read the Valentine you had in your hand and that was your Valentine.

A Sweetheart contest revealing girls names was held with Laura Long receiving the prize for the most correct answers. The program closed with group singing, "Love's Old Sweet Song" and seasonal refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Ritchie.

Couple Now Social Outcasts After Adopting Black Child

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Not too many people ring the front doorbell at the Melvin Sparlin home anymore, and when Wilma Sparlin takes her young children out for a walk, many people on the street stare but do not speak.

The Sparlins, who are white, are the adoptive parents of a black girl. Many of their neighbors in Alton, across the Mississippi from St. Louis, are finding that hard to accept.

"But I haven't lost anything," says Mrs. Sparlin. "If this makes friends stay away, then anyone who would shun us because we have adopted a black child doesn't want us anyway."

The Sparlins have three other children besides their black daughter, Denise, who celebrated her second birthday last week. Brent, 17, is the couple's natural child and John, 15, and Julie, 4, are adopted.

"The other children don't notice any difference between Denise and themselves," Mrs. Sparlin said. "It's the adults who make kids notice things like that."

"If Denise and Julie ask why they are different, I'll tell Denise she's an Afro-American and Julie that she's Italian. Black is a culture, not a color."

The Sparlins adopted Denise when she was one month old.

"You sure don't have people rushing up to see your baby when it's skin is black," Mrs. Sparlin recalled. "A lot of people we used to visit with we haven't even seen since we got Denise."

Melvin Sparlin says he has met with rebuffs at work and socially. He is district manager of Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

At least one friend and business associate has stopped speaking to him, he said.

"But it's all worth it," Mrs. Sparlin said. "Denise has been a joy to us and a blessing. We feel proud that we're able to give her a home."

The Sparlins tried to adopt a black child four years ago but ran into too much red tape. They adopted Julie instead.

When they found an adoption agency willing to place a black child with a white family, they brought home Denise.

"If I could take every child who needs a home, I would—especially the hard-to-place children," Mrs. Sparlin said. "The perfect and cute and cuddly ones are always the first chosen. The outlook for the leftovers is more doubtful."

Civil Service Dismissal Meet Barred By Court

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Dismissal hearings for four Civil Service Commission members ordered fired by Mayor Ralph Perk were blocked Tuesday by U.S. District Court Judge Frank Battisti.

The judge issued a preliminary injunction barring the hearings and said the matter would be taken up in federal court.

Perk seeks to replace the entire commission because it has blocked the firing of several city employees since the mayor took office Nov. 8. One member of the five-man commission already has been replaced.

Attorneys for the other four commission members asked Battisti to halt the hearings scheduled for today on grounds that Perk had ordered the firings and therefore could not conduct hearings in the cases without prejudice.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Cleveland attorneys said Wednesday they plan a federal court test of Ohio's new homestead property tax exemption for the elderly.

Navy Denies Admiral Ousted From Pentagon Due To Leak

NEW YORK (AP) — Columnist Jack Anderson says the Nixon administration "banished" an admiral to sea duty in the mistaken belief that the admiral was the source of the leak of secret documents to Anderson.

The columnist, who has been publishing a series of documents and letters dealing with the administration's stance in the India-Pakistan war, said Tuesday that the White House drew its erroneous conclusion from FBI information.

He said that as a result Rear Adm. Robert Welander was transferred from a Pentagon post to command of a cruiser-destroyer flotilla based in Charleston, S.C.

"They plugged the wrong leak," Anderson said. "The FBI got the wrong man. I never have talked to Welander. He gave me nothing. His career is ruined because the FBI made a mistake."

In Washington, presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Welander had served as liaison between the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the White House. He said the White House had nothing to do with Welander's transfer.

A Pentagon spokesman said of Welander's appointment to head the force of about a dozen ships: "Any man that is assigned to that position is in no trouble whatever. That's one of the choicest positions in the Navy."

Anderson made his statements at a news conference called to announce plans for May publication of a book, "The Anderson Papers," based on previously published documents on the India-Pakistan situation and yet-unpublished documents.

He said the documents show that this country was "on the brink of nuclear war," with American task forces sent to the Bay of Bengal on an alert "for hostile action" with the Soviets and Chinese.

James Levine Named Met Opera Conductor

NEW YORK (AP) — James Levine, 28-year-old assistant conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra for six years, will become principal conductor of the Metropolitan Opera next year.

The appointment was announced Tuesday by the opera company's general manager, Goeran Gentele, and its new music director, Rafael Kubelik.

Charles Ross Trial Slated Next Month

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The trial of Charles Ross, former director of black studies at Ohio State University, on charges stemming from his alleged role in a high school disturbance is expected to begin next month.

Municipal Judge G. W. Fair cleared way for the trial Tuesday by overruling motions by defense attorneys for dismissal of the charges on grounds Ross' arrest by former Safety Director James Hughes was improper.

President Crams For China Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lights burned late in a cottage atop a Maryland mountain and in the White House as President Nixon and his aides raced against the clock to complete preparations for his historic mission to China.

At secluded Camp David in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains, where he flew Tuesday by helicopter, Nixon worked into the night reading loose-leaf notebooks containing classified material on China and its leaders prepared by Henry Kissinger's National Security Council.

At the White House and in adjoining office buildings, an army of aides ate midnight snacks at their desks as they coped with the complex logistics involved in sending a president and more than 200 other Americans into a country with which the United States has had little contact for two decades.

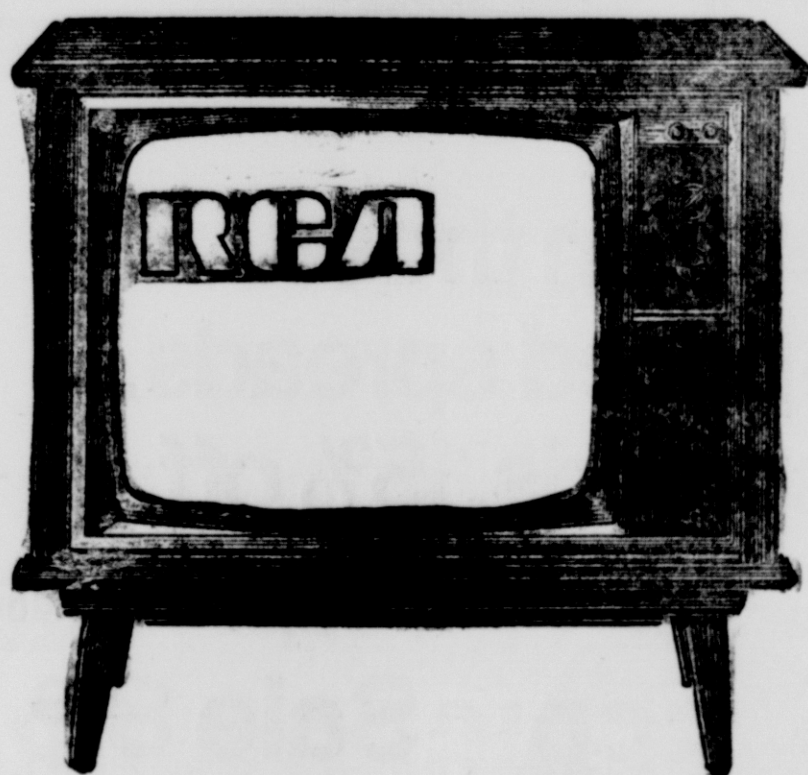

Murder Charge Filed In Columbus Incident

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police said Wednesday they had filed a first-degree murder charge in the shooting of a man whose body was dumped out of a car at a service station Tuesday night.

Henry Butler, 36, of Columbus, was arrested by the State Highway Patrol near Newark in Licking County. He was charged with the fatal shooting of Ronald L. Harris, 23, of Columbus. The patrol had arrested Butler on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Delphos Man's Death Brings Investigation

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — The death of Thomas Hellman, 45, whose frozen body was found in a ditch next to his car, was ruled accidental Wednesday night by assistant Allen County Coroner Eugene Wright.

But the Ohio Highway Patrol has impounded the Delphos man's car and is continuing its investigation into mysterious circumstances surrounding his death.

Hellman, missing nine days, was found by a farmer Wednesday alongside his wrecked car in a 25-foot-deep ditch off an entrance ramp to new U.S. 30-N about 10 miles north of here.

The auto apparently had been traveling the wrong direction on the entrance ramp at a high rate of speed, the patrol said. It appeared to have gone over an embankment and flipped over, throwing Hellman out. When found, his body was face down in five inches of water.

Because of the frozen condition of the body, Wright said it was impossible to determine how long Hellman had been dead. Patrol officers said the wrecked car could have been in that location unobserved for some time because it was not visible from either the highway or the ramp.

Wright said he also could not determine whether Hellman died of injuries suffered in the accident or from exposure or drowning.

Hellman, a Ford Motor Co. employee, was reported missing to Delphos police on Feb. 7. The patrol said its initial investigation indicated he was last seen Feb. 3. Officers reported Hellman's calendar watch was stopped on Feb. 4.

Ohio River Oil Threat Disclosed

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — Approximately 4,200 gallons of crude oil spilled into a Wetzel County creek, which empties into the Ohio River east of New Martinsville, Wednesday, according to Cmdr. Bobby Burns of the Coast Guard district office in Huntington.

Burns said the oil leaked into Fishing Creek at a point about ten miles from the Ohio. None of the oil could be recovered because of the high water level. Burns said the oil apparently leaked from a rusted line operated by the Eureka Pipeline Co.

An investigation will be conducted by the Environmental Protecting Agency, Burns said.

DON ARCHER

Don Archer, of the Soil Conservation Service, explained how Pickaway County is working towards this goal.

According to Archer, a basic soil survey, county-wide, is nearing completion. A water and sewage treatment plan has been successfully developed for the county. And subdivision regulations have been updated.

The only part of the master plan still lacking in the county, according to Archer, is the establishment of a Developing and Planning Commission for the county plus professional consultation.

Improper planning, according to Archer, is a condition that exists when tax dollars are spent to purchase elaborate community plans, but then subdivisions built in the community are forced to close because of improper water supply, sewage treatment, poor location, or any other factor.

Real planning, on the other hand, should include a good planning commission in consultation with both citizens and a professional consultant that could develop an area theoretically, ten years in advance to allow for maximum use of regulations and provide for roads, schools, water and recreational facilities.

HE noted that Pickaway County is working towards this goal.

U.S. Wives Expect Few Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — American wives of child-bearing age expect smaller families than did their counterparts five years ago, according to a new Census Bureau survey.

The report may have special significance for scientists worried that the earth is becoming so overpopulated that its ecology is endangered.

"People who are concerned about the population explosion need to read this very closely," said Census Director George Hay Brown who announced the findings Wednesday.

But Brown pointed out that the survey covers only 6 per cent of the world's population.

Regarded as a key indicator of the national birth rate, the survey showed that:

—Wives from 18 to 39 expect to have an average of 2.8 children, a decline from the 3.1 average reported in 1967.

—Wives from 18 to 24 expect 2.4 children, compared with 2.9 five years ago.

—64 per cent of those 18 to 24 expect no more than two children, up from 44 per cent reporting those expectations in the previous survey.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Psychiatrist's Wife Needs Advice

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a psychiatrist who is a wonderful husband and father. We have two preschool children. I suppose I shouldn't have any problems, but I find that I become very anxious and jealous when I hear of his women patients who are attractive, talented, and lead such glamorous lives. I do a little volunteer work but really enjoy being a housewife and mother.

How do I keep from feeling insecure and jealous, ABBY? Should I seek the counsel of my husband's partner? Or should I confess my feelings straight to my husband who seems to help everyone else?

NEEDS ADVICE DEAR NEEDS: You say, "I suppose I shouldn't have any problems." EVERYBODY has problems. And that includes psychiatrists and their wives. Why should you be immune? I don't recommend talking to your husband's partner. It may create the appearance of impropriety where none exists, which would be embarrassing to your husband. Instead, tell your husband exactly how you feel, and if he loves you (and I think he does), he will give you the assurance you need.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this guy for over a year and we have become quite serious. In fact he wants to marry me.

The problem is, before I knew him I was in an accident and four of my front teeth were knocked out and I had to have false ones put in.

I think my false teeth look natural, and several people have remarked on my "beautiful smile."

I really think I would tell my boy friend about my false teeth, but I don't know how would you please help me?

NO PHONY DEAR NO PHONY: Say, "I have a confession to make. Part of me is false. I have four false teeth. Do you still want to marry me?" (I think he'll be relieved. Twenty-eight REAL teeth out of 32 isn't bad.)

DEAR ABBY: In our office your column is often a subject of our lunch hour discussions.

One in particular from the lady who spent Thanksgiving alone because she had six sons but no daughters. We all wondered what kind of relationship she must have had with her daughters in law! We all have a mother in law, and will probably be one some day ourselves, and thus we have come up with a suggested Mother In Law's prayer:

"Lord, help me to be glad when my son (or daughter) picks a mate. If he brings home a girl with two heads, help me to love both of them equally. And when my son says, 'Mom, I want to get married,' forbid that I should blurt out, 'How far along is she?'"

"And please, Lord, help me to get through the wedding preparations without a squabble with the 'other side.' And drive from my mind the belief that had my child waited a while, she could have done better."

"Dear Lord, remind me daily that when I become a grandmother, that my children don't want any advice on how to raise their children any more than I did when I was raising mine."

"If you will help me to do these things, perhaps my children will find me a joy to be around, and maybe I won't have to write to Dear Abby about my child neglecting me." SEVERAL DAUGHTERS IN LAW

Tax Break For Industry Supported

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Gov. John Gilligan said Wednesday he favors a break in corporate income taxes as an incentive to keep industry from moving out of Ohio.

Gilligan was in Cleveland in a last ditch effort to prevent two industries from relocating in other states.

"We have to have more going for us than to pick up the phone and say, 'This is the governor of Ohio; gee, I wish you wouldn't move your plant,'" said Gilligan.

The governor met with Greater Cleveland Growth Association, labor and business leaders in regard to an announcement by two firms—the PESCO Products Division of Borg Warner Corp. and the Square D Co.—that they planned to relocate.

"We don't have any money to hand out," Gilligan told the group, "but we can offer the help of our staff, our information and our services. We need to get into the act before a firm makes the decision to close or move elsewhere."

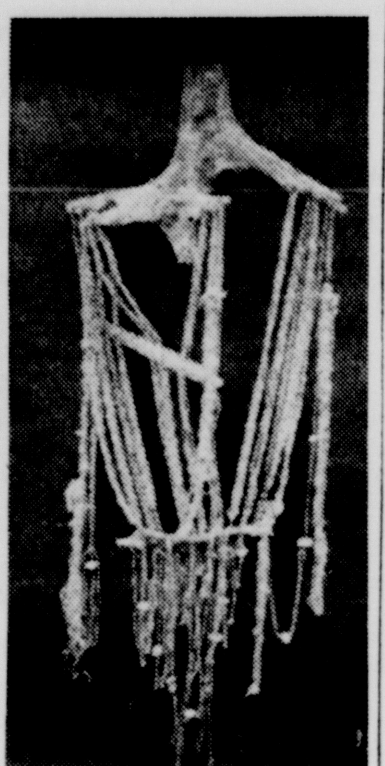

Catholic Parish Protests Viet War

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A 60-member Roman Catholic parish has voted unanimously to withhold payment of long-distance telephone excise taxes in protest of the Vietnam war.

The Rev. William Nerin said the decision by the Community of John XXIII was made about six months ago but announcement was delayed until the beginning of Lent, "a time of reflection."

Another student, junior Vickie Rockwell, will also have a macrame creation pictured. Using earth as her theme, she macramed a form from a piece of driftwood using natural hemp cording and hand-sculpted ceramic beads.

Vickie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coddington, 2055 Sioux Drive.

Photographs of the selected works will be included in the May SHOWCASE 72 issue of School Arts or on a School Artists page in later publications.

School Arts is an international art education magazine published in Baltimore, Md.

The three selected pieces of artwork will be featured among nearly 1,000 others in the annual Logan Elm School District's Art and Music Festival April 26. It will be held this year in the George McDowell Exchange School.

U.S. Puzzled By Russian Actions On Force Reduction

By ENDRE MARTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration specialists on troop cuts in Europe have come to the guarded conclusion that the Soviet Union is inching toward the Western position on

Sewer Prohibition Made Indefinite

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A ban which prohibits sewer tie-ins and, in effect, has frozen most construction in Cleveland and 28 surrounding suburbs was extended indefinitely Tuesday by Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Judge George McMonagle.

The ruling, subject to further order of the court, came after a day-long hearing at which various types of proposed sewer districts were discussed.

mutual and balanced force reduction, or MBFR.

Yet, they said, they can only guess why Moscow remains hard-nosed in its refusal to receive Italian diplomat Manlio Brosio, who is assigned to explore the possibilities of starting serious negotiations.

The new assessment of the Soviet attitude was based on careful study of a "Declaration on Europe" issued by the Warsaw Pact countries in Prague Jan. 26. One paragraph read:

"Reducing armed forces and armaments in Europe, both foreign and national, ought to be solved in such a manner as not to be to the detriment of the Communist bloc."

For one thing, the Warsaw Pact document said that reductions, including armaments, should include "both foreign and national" forces. The

Pablo Casals Sets Phoenix Appearance

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Pablo Casals, the 95-year-old cello virtuoso who last appeared in Phoenix in 1901, has accepted an invitation to conduct a concert here March 30, according to the Arizona Republic.

Casals has rarely appeared in the United States because of his long-standing objection to U.S. recognition of the Franco government in Spain, where he was born and left in self-exile.

countries taking part in such reduction."

American officials believe this comes close on two counts to the "Rome Criteria" the Western allies agreed to put forward in MBFR talks with the Communist bloc.

According to the Rome Criteria, MBFR "should not operate to the military disadvantage of either side."

Although the Prague document may be regarded as a step toward clarification of the complex issues involved in MBFR, U.S. officials remain convinced that personal contact through an "explorer"—Brosio's official designation—is indispensable. They acknowledge, however, that there seems little hope Moscow would change its mind and invite the Italian.

Accordingly, the officials said, the Western allies—meaning all members of NATO, except France which is not interested in MBFR—are consulting on a new approach to Moscow, probably shelving the idea of sending Brosio there. The officials would not disclose the alternatives, but acknowledged that contacts through normal diplomatic channels might be one of them.

Secondly, the Warsaw Pact communiqué said reduction should "not be to the detriment of the participating nations."

Notice is hereby given that Patsy S. Hart, whose Post Office address is Route 4, Circleville, Ohio 43113, has been duly appointed Administratrix de bonis non with will annexed of the Estate of Fannie O. Conrad late of Pickaway County, Ohio, deceased.

OU, Athens Officials Swap Places With Union, Students

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—"Our mutual experiences today can develop understanding that will continue," Ohio University President Claude Sowle said Wednesday after he traded jobs for a day with the head of the nonacademic employees union.

Sowle handled some of the union and custodial duties of Oscar McGee, president of Local 1699 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

And McGee moved into

Sowle's office to consider administration problems.

"Beyond the dun of the day," Sowle said afterwards, "There was the fundamental opportunity for me to get to know Mr. McGee better personally."

McGee said he was glad to introduce Sowle to some of the management problems of a union.

"Anyhow, it takes an attorney to take care of union business today," McGee said. "He ought to be good." Sowle is an attorney.

Sowle and McGee were among some 800 university and city administrators and students and employees who traded jobs in a project to promote better down-town understanding.

"It does work. This has really been an experience," said sophomore Harold Cagot of Wintersville after he swapped places with Athens Patrolman James Deardoff.

The officer agreed. "A trade-off like this rubs off on us both; we get a little different point of view of each other," Deardoff observed.

Ohio Pen Escapees Will Face Charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Penitentiary Warden Harold J. Cardwell said Wednesday that two escaped convicts returned to the prison Tuesday will be tried in Franklin County Common Pleas Court on charges of escape from confinement.

The two, Donald G. Manis, 29, of Salem, and Donald F. Ferdinand, 34, of Cincinnati, were captured Jan. 31 in Newport, Ky., five days after they escaped over the wall at the penitentiary.

John Milar, university vice president and treasurer, who traded positions with senior Marc L. Levin of University Heights, noted attendance of classes has become more casual since he was a student.

"Some come in late while others leave early," Milar said. "The majority seem to stay, but it is more flexible."

Levin responded that some classes "are like bad movies, you need to be able to leave."

Among city officials matched with students were Athens Mayor Donald Barrett, Municipal Court Judge Franklin Sheeter, County Sheriff Harold Shields and County Commissioner John Law.

Sowle and McGee began their day with a joint news conference at which they disagreed over whether university faculty should be represented by a union.

McGee said everyone needs collective bargaining to insure job security.

Judd Forms Panel On Chinese Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Rep. Walter Judd has announced formation of a "Committee for a Free China" to keep an eye on emerging U.S. policy toward mainland China.

The organization replaces the "Committee of One Million," an 18-year-old lobbying group that died after the Peking government was given the China seat in the United Nations and Taiwan was ousted last year.

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Here are some new titles in the Sneek-A-Peek Room. All have a special appeal in that they can and should be shared with adults. Those for preschoolers are good for reading aloud and those for older boys and girls are good conservation starters.

Little boys will be happy to see "The Toolbox" by Anne and Harlow Rockwell. They will enjoy identifying the large color pictures, one tool to a page. For the very young.

"The Beast of Monsieur Racine" was inoffensive, lumpy, and some how appealing, in spite of the fact that he had a huge appetite. Even though he ate M. Racine's extraordinary pearls, he felt drawn to it. They spent many happy afternoons in childish play and feast on candies and ices. Tom Ungerer, artist and author, plays a hoax on the reader, just as the beast plays on M. Racine. Very young children will enjoy hearing this tricky yarn, but early readers will have a difficult time with the words.

"Mandala" depicts an African family cultivating and harvesting a corn crop. Emily McCully is to be complimented on her explicit watercolors, which really tell the story. Accompanying the pictures is a simple jungle chant, arranged by Arnold Adoff.

Do you like to cook? There's a recipe for Grandmother's Famous Cranberry Bread in the back of "Cranberry Thanksgiving." Wendie and Harry Devlin concocted this story, and it has a moral. Don't judge a book by its cover, or a man by his beard. Hidden may be a heart of pure gold, and a huge appetite for cranberry bread!

William Heuman, a great writer of boys' stories, begins his latest book with a riotous lake rowing scene. Spider, the coxswain, lost his voice. Consequently, oars were moving up and down, completely independent of one another. And Zilo, steering the coach's motor boat, circled the shell with his little craft completely out of control. It all seems hilariously funny, and is sure to delight older boys. It's title is "Horace Higby, Coxswain of the Crew." Pictures are by William Moyers, formerly an animator for Walt Disney. His sketches reveal some cartoon background.

Do you groan when your youngster comes home with a new joke? Then don't borrow "The Big Book of Jokes" from the library. Any boy or girl who is lucky enough to get his hands on this collection on really funny stories will quote them over and over. They were collected by Helen Hoke, who is responsible for several appealing juveniles.

Seniors drop off and freshmen join up, but the band plays on. "Follow the Leader" by Pat Redoux, starts seventy-six trombones tooting in the reader's head. This is a great story for older boys and girls. Of course, the band is its real protagonist, but interwoven are true - to - life incidents of the freshmen student. Sandy, who loves the band for its own sake, is one of the most appealing young ladies to enter fiction this year.

James Earl Ray In Discipline Cell

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray, who pleaded guilty to the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., will spend 30 days in a disciplinary cell at Brushy Mountain State Prison as a result of his second unsuccessful escape attempt. "We think there might have been someone else... working with him," Warden Robert Moore said Tuesday, "but there is no way to implicate another prisoner. Ray was caught alone—and he's not telling anything."

Marshall Tramples OU Bobcats, 95-76

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Marshall, rebuffed again last week in its bid to regain Mid-American Conference membership, is taking its vent out on the basketball floor.

The tenth-ranked Thundering Herd trampled conference co-leader Ohio University on its own floor 95-76 Wednesday night, the sixth straight time Marshall has whipped a Mid-American foe this season.

"They were really charged up tonight," said Ohio Coach Jim Snyder after his team lost for the second time to Marshall, 20-2.

It was just last weekend that the Mid-American Council of Presidents postponed considering Marshall's reinstatement in the conference until 1973. The Huntington, W.Va., school was suspended in 1969 for more than 200 recruiting violations.

In the Mid-American, Kent State kept alive its flickering title hopes with a 78-77 decision over defending champion

Miami and Western Michigan took a 75-74 victory at Bowling Green.

In major independent games, 7-foot Gerald Smith hit career highs of 32 points and 21 points in a 78-70 triumph at Dayton and Lloyd Batts poured in 24, pacing Cincinnati to a 76-71 verdict over Xavier.

Defiance, 19-1, clinched the Ohio division title of Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, beating Bluffton 108-100. Dave Maurer hit 12 of his 21 points in the last seven minutes in Ohio Dominican's 85-81 triumph over Wheeling.

Elsewhere, Ashland overpowered Wilberforce 121-87. Baldwin-Wallace beat Point Park 88-65. Youngstown State whipped Cleveland State for the 19th straight time 79-62.

Akron ran its record to 19-3, defeating Indiana State 66-58. Urbana, 21-5, lost its third overtime contest 108-107 to Northwood and Malone thumped Canton rival Walsh 96-77.

Marshall rattled Ohio with a combined 72 points for Tyrone Collins, Russell Lee and Randy Noll, a full-court press and speed.

"We were quicker than they were. It made a big difference," said Marshall Coach Carl Tacy, who watched Collins score 26, Lee 25 and Noll 21.

The Bobcats gave the Thundering Herd a game for 10 minutes, then a run of eight Marshall points shot the 20-2 victors into a 35-24 lead in the first half.

"We just don't have the quickness to play with them," said Snyder. "This was a pivotal game for them, fighting for a tournament berth."

Tom Riccardi, with 22 points, led the offense for the Bobcats, beaten for the second time by Marshall for an 11-9 over-all record

Tigers Host Hurricane In Cage Finale

Coach John Lawhorn and his Circleville Tigers will wrap up regular season play Friday night when they host the Wilmington Hurricane in a South Central Ohio League clash.

The Tigers are in third spot in the SCOL with a record of 5-4 while the Hurricane are resting in the cellar with a mark of 0-9.

It will be the final home appearance for seven Circleville seniors who will be entertaining the home fans in the season finale.

Donning the Red and Black for the last time, excluding tournament play, will be Terry Morrison, Mike Hamrick, Jim Neal, Kent Wolfe, Don Valentine, Randy Sprout and David Grigg.

THESE young men have been a credit to their teams and schools and will receive a "well done" tribute from the fans when they hit the hardwood Friday night.

Circleville holds an 86-46 decision over the Hurricane in a contest earlier this season on the Wilmington floor.

The Tigers have a 12-5 record in season play and are seeded number two in the Class AA Groveport Sectional Tournament.

They will meet Columbus DeSales (5-11) 7 p.m. Feb. 26 on the Groveport floor.

Tom Seaver Signs Contract; Robinson, Wise Hold Out

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Mets have satisfied Tom Seaver's 1972 contract demands but it will take a little more effort for the Los Angeles Dodgers and Philadelphia Phillies to do the same for Frank Robinson and Rick Wise.

Seaver agreed to exercise his valuable right arm for $120,000 this season, making the 27-year-old pitcher the highest paid baseball player in New York history. And that includes people like Babe Ruth, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle.

But the Dodgers came up about $10,000 short on their first offer to Robinson, who was acquired during the winter from Baltimore and their $140,000 pitch left the talented outfielder "shocked."

And Wise, who pitched a no-hitter and won 17 games last season, informed the Phillies that he was shooting for a 100 per cent boost to $85,000 which is considerably more than General Manager John Quinn has offered.

Seaver, who reportedly had been interested in a three-year $500,000 contract similar to the one Carl Yastrzemski received from Boston last year, settled for less, but enough to keep him happy.

"I don't think you ever sign for what you want in this give-and-take world," said the ace righty, who led both leagues with a 1.76 earned run average to go with his 20-10 record last season.

"I am satisfied and I am grateful," he said. "I'd be glad to sign a contract for $5,000 less than I want every year."

That may be okay for Seaver but it's not for Robinson. He wants $150,000 from the Dodgers and he may miss the team plane to spring training if Los Angeles doesn't come through.

"I doubt I'll be on the plane with the team a week from Saturday," said Robinson after rejecting the Dodgers' offer of a $10,000 raise over the $130,000 he earned from the Orioles last year. "I'm shocked, not angry," he said.

Wise and Quinn seem to be at loggerheads on the Phillie pitcher's contract demands.

"I went in to see him Jan. 16 and we each named our figures," said Wise. "It was almost a month before he contacted me again. His figure hadn't changed."

Quinn did sign two other players, pitcher Woody Fryman and third baseman John Vukovich, on Wednesday.

The World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates opened their camp for pitchers and catchers today but World Series heroes Steve Blass and Nelson Briles were among the missing. Both are unsigned.

On other negotiation fronts, St. Louis signed seven players including pitcher Sal Santorini, the New York Yankees satisfied four players including second baseman Horace Clarke and pitcher Mike Kekich, and the Mets got pitcher Gary Gentry as well as Seaver.

Unranked Penn State Upsets Virginia, 86-74

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"We did what we had to do and did it well," Penn State Coach John Bach said after his unranked Nittany Lions stunned No. 6 Virginia 86-74.

Howard White of 19th-rated Maryland knew what he had to do, too, Wednesday night—and did it just as well, sinking a pair of free throws with seven seconds remaining in overtime to sink third-ranked North Carolina 79-77.

Unbeaten Marquette, listed behind only UCLA in The Associated Press' nationwide college basketball poll, averted an upset by waking up in the second half to overtake Jacksonville 88-79 for victory No. 21.

Two other Top Ten teams came out on top as expected, seventh-ranked South Carolina edging Nevada-Las Vegas 84-81 and Marshall, No. 10, turning back Ohio University 95-76.

"It was just like playing in the Atlantic Coast Conference," said Bill Gibson, coach of Virginia's vanquished Cavaliers. "It was so noisy the players couldn't even hear me on the bench."

The Lions took the lead for good at 44-43 with 12:45 remaining, then slowly widened it as Virginia repeatedly fouled to get the ball back. Ron Brown paced Penn State, now 13-7, with 25 points. Barry Parkhill had 20 to top Virginia, losing its second game in 20.

Bob McAdoo of the Tar Heels sank a field goal with 29 seconds left in regulation play to tie Maryland but missed a 25-footer at the buzzer, giving the Tar Heels the chance they needed to raise their record to 17-3.

And White took advantage of it. After making just one point on four one-and-one free throw situations in regulation time, he hit all four of his free throws and one field goal to hand North Carolina its third loss in 20 games.

White finished with 19 points to back up Maryland scoring leader Tom McMillen's 27. McAdoo had 17 to top the Tar Heels.

Jacksonville led Marquette 65-60 early in the second half before the Warriors outscored the Dolphins 18-4, then ran delay patterns to sew up their 71st consecutive home-court triumph. Jim Chones had 23 points and Bob Lackey 21 for Marquette. Ernie Fleming's 21 topped Jacksonville.

The Fighting Gamecocks of South Carolina had a tougher time than expected against Nevada-Las Vegas. Rick Aydtelle scored 22 and Tom Riker had 17 for South Carolina but it took Kevin Joyce's three free throws in the final 47 seconds to lock it up. Bob Florence of NLV led everybody with 26 points.

Barry-NBA Suit Fought In Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Basketball star Rick Barry is back in the courts—this time in a $1.1 million suit he filed in U.S. District Court against the National Basketball Association team formerly known as the San Francisco Warriors.

Barry, now 27 and a forward with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association, claims a 1969 contract he signed with the Warriors, now the Golden State Warriors, is invalid.

The suit, filed Wednesday, is actually a counter-claim to one filed in November by attorneys for Warrior owner Frank Mieleu seeking to make Barry live up to the three-year contract.

Barry, in his action, alleges that the NBA and the Warriors pooled resources in obtaining his services, thereby violating federal anti-trust regulations.

The complaint claims the contract is invalid because it is "an unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of sections one and two" of the antitrust law.

"Part of the suit is similar to the Curt Flood baseball case," said Barry's attorney, Frederick Furth. "We are alleging that the NBA reserve clause is illegal."

The ABA has a one-year option but no reserve clause.

Cincinnati Bengals Sign Jim LeClair

CINCINNATI (AP) — Rookie linebacker Jim LeClair from North Dakota, was signed by the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League as their third round draft choice.

The 6-foot-2, 226-pound player was named to the 1971 Associated Press Little All-America and the Football Coaches Association College Division All-America.

Tyrone Collins scored 26 points, Russell Lee had 25 and Randy Noll 21 to lead Marshall, which ran off strings of eight and nine points against outclassed Ohio to boost its record to 20-2.

"We were quicker than they were," said Thundering Herd Coach Carl Tacy. "It made the big difference. We did some things better tonight than we have all year." And Ohio Coach Jim Snyder agreed: "We just don't have the quickness to play with them."

In other major Wednesday night games, St. Bonaventure bombed St. Francis, N.Y., 94-58, St. Louis upended North Texas State 88-75, Syracuse rallied to take Bucknell 91-74 and Villanova shelled Duquesne 102-81.

Utah Stars Top Nets; Win 119-114

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — New York's Rick Barry was unstoppable Wednesday night, so the Utah Stars found another way to beat the Nets.

While Barry was putting on a one-man show, the Stars, leaders in the American Basketball Association's West Division, concentrated on keeping the rest of the Nets under control. At the other end, they produced a balanced offense which had five men scoring better than 15 points apiece.

The result was a 119-114 victory for Utah at the Nassau Coliseum ... despite 50 points by Barry.

The Nets' superstar did just about everything. He sank 17 of 30 two-point field goal attempts, two of five three-point tries and a perfect 10 for 10 from the foul line for his 50 points. He pulled down 13 rebounds and he even handed out seven assists.

"This was the best game Barry has played since he became a New York Net," declared his appreciative coach, Lou Carnesecca.

But still Utah won. In the only other ABA game of the night, the Kentucky Colonels, East Division leaders, whipped the Pittsburgh Condors, East Division tailenders, 129-105.

4 Rookie Prospects Sign With Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Four more rookie prospects have signed 1972 contracts with the Cleveland Indians.

The Indians said signing of David "Buddy" Bell, Ted Ford, Bob Kaiser and Terry Ley leaves only 12 of the 39 Tribesmen unsigned.

Bell—the 1971 American Association Rookie of the Year—played third base at Wichita, but will be tried in the outfield with the Indians.

Ford, an infielder, also was with Wichita last year. Kaiser and Ley are pitchers.

Roger Taylor Beats Newcombe At Tennis

TORONTO (AP) — Unseeded Roger Taylor of Great Britain capped a day of upsets in a $50,000 World Championship Tennis tournament Wednesday by eliminating Wimbledon king John Newcombe of Australia 3-5, 4-6, 6-4.

The eighth-seeded Newcombe was fighting a hot-and-cold backhand and an inconsistent serve throughout the match.

Population Growth Slowed Very Little By War, Famine

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In the 345 years between 1600 and the end of World War II about 54 million persons in the world died in military service, a U.N. study estimates.

But "The World Population Situation in 1970," concludes that wars, famines and epidemics together had slowed down population growth by only about 10 years.

On top of all the deaths of people in military service, the study says, there have been large "war-induced mortality among civilians" stemming in modern times from their becoming targets of attack and in earlier periods from the epidemics, famines and pillage that came with war.

It cites evidence that famines and epidemics in themselves act as a drag on population growth. It notes that on the Indian subcontinent population increased 3 million or 4 million in the decades of the 1876-78 floods and epidemics, the 1892 and 1897 famines and the 1918 influenza epidemic, in contrast to 24 million and 19 million in intervening decades. Because of food shortages after World War II, the book adds, many hundreds of thousands died in Europe who might otherwise have lived longer.

"The ravages of war, famine or epidemic have been devastating indeed," the book says. "Even so, the setbacks which they have caused in population size have often been restored within only a few years by the sheer inertia of normal fertility."

2 Americans Die In Action

SAIGON (AP) — Two Americans were killed in action and 28 were wounded in the Vietnam war last week, the U.S. Command announced today. The South Vietnamese command said 360 of its troops were killed, about 60 more than the average for the last six months.

Another four Americans died from nonhostile causes, the U.S. Command said.

The heavy South Vietnamese casualties also included 948 wounded and reflected a high-point in ground activity that was the most intense since October. It was a prelude to the Tet festival of the lunar new year this week.

Enemy losses for the week were put at 1,105 killed, 200 less than the week before, and 126 captured.

It was the eighth consecutive week that the weekly casualty summary reported fewer than six U.S. battle deaths.

10 Former Grid Stars Are Honored

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Angelo Bertelli, Notre Dame quarterback, and the late Bruce Smith, Minnesota halfback, both Heisman Trophy winners, were among 10 former collegiate stars named today to the National Football Foundation's College Hall of Fame.

The electees, announced by Vincent dePaul Draddy, chairman of the board, also included six other backs and two linemen.

The other inductees scheduled for induction at the 15th annual Football Hall of Fame Awards Dinner, Dec. 5 in New York are: Malcolm Aldrich, Yale halfback; Bob Fenimore, Oklahoma State back; Robert Hamilton, Stanford halfback; Mort Kaer, Southern California back; William Morton, Dartmouth quarterback; Charles O'Rourke, Boston College quarterback; the late Bowden Wyatt, Tennessee end, and Joe Stydahar, West Virginia tackle.

Bertelli, 51, called signals for the Irish from 1941-43, but interrupted his college career to enter the Marine Corps. He presently is in business in New Jersey and broadcasts Princeton games in the fall. He won the Heisman Trophy in 1943.

"Boo" Smith, who died in 1967, won the Heisman Trophy and All-American honors in 1941. A native of Minnesota, he died of cancer at 47.

Ohio House-Senate Panel Eyes Property Tax Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A joint House-Senate Ways and Means subcommittee will begin next week combining seven bills before the legislature into one dealing with property taxes.

The group directed aides Wednesday to lift key elements from six pieces of tax legislation for inclusion in a seventh authored by Sen. Michael Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati.

The subcommittee was formed to solve problems created by a Board of Tax Appeals ruling that all real property in Ohio must be taxed at 35 per cent of true value.

Maloney told the subcommittee the final measure should deal with the knotty issues of property tax rollbacks, the tax rate and how often revaluation of land should be made.

Under Maloney's bill, the property tax rollback must be sufficient so that the amount of locally-voted operating revenue remains the same. It also would guarantee that no county would lose revenue because of the Board of Tax Appeals ruling.

Most subcommittee members appear to favor lowering the board figure of 35 per cent to near 30 per cent.

They were told by committee Chairman E. W. Lampson, R-38 Jefferson, that 37 counties now use a property tax base below 20 per cent and another 50 are assessing between 30 and 35 per cent.

Lampson said only one county, Jefferson, assesses land over 35 per cent. Its rate is 36.9 per cent.

Scioto County Auditor Roy Vastine appealed to the subcommittee Wednesday to produce a "full-blown tax reform package" for the state.

Vastine criticized the heavy tax emphasis on property. He said property taxes no longer make economic sense because Ohio no longer is an almost totally agricultural state.

"Real property is no longer a true index of a man's worth, his income or his ability to pay," Vastine said. "And continued piecemeal approaches to real estate assessment practices will no longer suffice."

Sen. Jackson Files Petitions For Ohio Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Henry Jackson has become the fourth Democratic presidential contender to enter Ohio's May 2 primary, and his manager said the Washington senator will campaign actively for the state's convention votes.

"We are not going to aim for less than first place in the Ohio primary," U.S. Rep. Thomas Foley declared Wednesday shortly after Jackson backers filed candidacy petitions with Secretary of State Ted Brown.

Jackson joins Sens. Edmund Muskie of Maine, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and George McGovern of South Dakota, all of whom filed petitions earlier, in quest of Ohio's 153 Democratic convention delegate seats.

Supporters of former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota were expected to submit a slate of delegate candidates before today's 4 p.m. filing deadline.

Business Briefs

The Board of Directors of BancOhio Corporation, Columbus, has declared a quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents per common share payable March 15, 1972 to shareholders of record March 1, 1972, Philip F. Searle, president of BancOhio, announced today.

BancOhio Corporation is the largest registered bank holding company in Ohio and is the parent company of 29 commercial banks which, by February 24, will operate 134 banking offices throughout the State.

The Corporation's report as of December 31, 1971 showed total assets of $2,097,580,657; total deposits of $1,829,186,727; and total loans of $926,123,821.

The Second National Bank of Circleville is an affiliate of BancOhio Corporation.

The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System Feb. 14, approved the proposed affiliation of The Ohio Savings and Trust Company, New Philadelphia, with BancOhio Corporation, Philip F. Searle, president of BancOhio, announced today.

The approval does not become effective for 30 days during which time the Department of Justice may review the transaction. BancOhio's proposed offering prospectus is still pending before the Securities and Exchange Commission, and Mr. Searle said he expected the offering to be effective momentarily. No date has been set for the actual affiliation.

The Ohio Savings and Trust Company, established in 1849, operates two branch offices in Tuscarawas County in addition to the Main Office in New Philadelphia. On December 31, 1971 the bank reported total assets of $25,288,000 and total deposits of $22,986,000.

This is the third Ohio bank in recent months to receive federal approval to affiliate with BancOhio. Community National Bank, Loveland, a new national bank which will be open for business on February 24, was approved in early February, 1972. The affiliation of The Niles Bank Company, Niles, is to be consummated on February 29.

bury, a member of Parliament. He said he had checked with Deputy Prime Minister Arthur Hannan and other government officials and had been assured the report was not correct.

Albury said "people like the Hughes people" don't need work permits.

The report of the raid was denied in Los Angeles by Richard Hannah, publicity chief of Hughes Tool Co. He said his sources had told him there was no raid and that Hughes had decided to move out voluntarily. He said he did not know why Hughes was leaving.

Other Hughes sources said it was doubtful that Hughes would return to the United States because of legal actions over his holdings and the purported Hughes "autobiography" compiled by author Clifford Irving.

Ten porters from a local trucking company were seen carrying furniture and other items from the Hughes hideaway on Wednesday.

Among the items were a hospital bed, blood plasma stand, many cases of bottled water, refrigerators, easy chairs, two reclining beds, mattresses, reels of film and many pots and pans.

Taxi Trip By Gunman Recounted

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Barry Richardson has been a cab driver in Cleveland for 15 years and hopes that what took place Wednesday doesn't happen to him again for at least 15 years.

Richardson, 45, told Asst. Cleveland Police Prosecutor Roger Stearns that a man got into his cab at East 96th Street and wanted to go to Akron.

Richardson told the man it would cost $30 and asked the man to prove he could pay for it. The man waved a $100 bill at Richardson and they headed for Akron.

The cab had traveled two miles when the man pulled a .38-caliber pistol, pointed it at Richardson and told him not to do anything but drive, Richardson said.

The passenger ordered Richardson to drive to a private mental hospital in Cuyahoga Falls where he wanted to see a friend.

Richardson said the man, who told him he had been a patient at the hospital, was unable to find his friend and ordered Richardson to return to Cleveland.

Richardson said that when they reached East 142nd Street and Miles Avenue in Cleveland, the man handed him the $100 bill and asked for change. When Richardson was unable to produce the change, the man accepted a receipt showing that Yellow Cab Co. owes him the money.

Richardson then drove to Central Police Station and related his story to Stearns.

A warrant was issued for the man for pointing a firearm.

150 Air Strikes Against North Vietnam Hit Guns

SAIGON (AP) — A powerful strike armada of U.S. warplanes ended two days of heavy bombing inside North Vietnam today after about 150 strikes against newly installed long-range artillery guns and anti-aircraft defenses.

Radio Hanoi claimed that North Vietnamese gunners shot down seven planes in the two days, "killing and capturing many pilots."

The U.S. Command, in announcing the end of the strikes, said an Air Force F4 Phantom was shot down Wednesday, apparently by a surface-to-air missile. The two-man crew is missing. The command declined comment on the higher claim by Radio Hanoi.

Pilots reported they encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire and more than a dozen of surface-to-air missiles or SAMs. Much of the U.S. strike effort was devoted to suppressing the anti-aircraft fire, spokesmen said.

"The area where we struck just north of the DMZ is heavily defended," said one spokesman. "A lot of effort was expended in anti-aircraft suppression, keeping down the SAMs and the anti-aircraft fire so that other planes could look for the long-range artillery guns."

"The artillery guns were the prime targets but in order to get to them in some degree of safety, we also had to go after the SAMs and anti-aircraft guns."

Scores more raids were flown against enemy positions in Laos and South Vietnam, but the heavy attack against North Vietnam forced the U.S. Command to cut back the aerial campaign in South Vietnam.

The command reported its bombers destroyed five artillery guns inside North Vietnam, two surface-to-air missile launchers and other equipment in southern Laos and five trucks in the northwest corner of South Vietnam. Pilots also reported triggering a dozen secondary explosions and two fires in raids south of the DMZ, indicating hits on ammunition stores.

The strikes into North Vietnam a few hours before President Nixon's departure for Communist China were the heaviest since more than 1,000 raids were flown against the North Dec. 26-30.

The U.S. Command announced that pilots ran into multiple barrages of surface-to-air missiles and anti-aircraft ar-

Price Support Fraud Disclosed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Leslie Moore, 38, a Portage County farmer, has been placed on probation for three years after pleading guilty to fraud involving price support loans.

U.S. District Judge James Connell ordered probation Wednesday after Moore, of Mantua, pleaded guilty to making false statements on his 1969 rye crop report in order to obtain a price support loan. Moore also pleaded guilty to converting 715 bushels of mortgaged wheat to his own use.

Ten other charges against Moore, former member of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee in Portage County, were dismissed.

into the area," said a statement from the headquarters of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander.

Spokesmen acknowledged that there are only a handful of American advisers and technicians at South Vietnamese bases along the DMZ within the range of the enemy artillery.

But "you have to look at the threat in a broad context," said one U.S. military source. "They could use these guns to help overrun Quang Tri which would be a threat to U.S. personnel."

Candles Sold Out In Britain

LONDON (AP) — Like everybody else in Britain during these blackout days, the butcher and the baker are having a rough time, but the candlestick maker is doing fine.

"All our people want is for us to work overtime" said 25-year-old Bernadette Evans. "If we worked all the hours God sends, they'd still ask us to do more."

Mrs. Evans works for Price's Candles, one of Britain's biggest candle manufacturers, in its factory in southwest London.

"We haven't got over the last crisis yet," said Roger Martin, the plant manager. "We spent all summer trying to catch up with the candles sold from the shops in December 1970 during the power workers' strike."

"We've been making nearly a million plain domestic candles a day ever since, and we still haven't caught up."

The factory is at peak production, with two enormous machines each pounding out half a million dry-molded candles a day. Workers who normally make more expensive colored candles have been diverted to plain ones.

"The wholesale traders are taking the candles off the premises just as quickly as we can make them," said Martin. "There's hardly a shop in the country that can't sell all the candles it can get. The trouble is, in a seasonal industry like ours, we just can't keep up."

Consumer Strength Increase Needed?

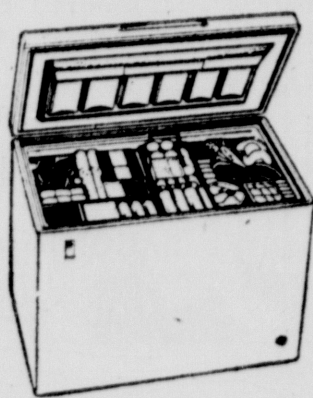

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The policy-making General Board of the National Council of Churches has recommended governmental and private action to strengthen the consumer.

Consumers have a "survival interest" in what producers do before they bring wares to market because man's "collective stewardship of the planet has been wasteful and destructive," the council says.
